MONDAY.....MAY 7, 1900.

A Vermont woman wants to be nominated for Vice President on the ticket with Dewey. If by any chance they should be elected, what a petticoat government we would have, for the Admiral's wife would be the power behind the throne, on the lines of the Dowager Empress of China.

Our War Department says that the insurrection in the Philippines will finally consist of guerrilla fighting from now on. As the Philippines are natural born boot-blacks, as is proved by those who drift over here, Secretary Root is probably referring to the "monkey shines" he expects they will cut up for quite a while yet.

Another million dollar fire has occurred, this time in British Columbia. If this sort of thing keeps up, the stockholders in the fire insurance companies will be hunting seats on the mourners' bench. They can get the ashes easily enough, but they will have to be trusted for the sackcloth, judging by the prospective condition of the caribou.

AMERICA AND THE BOERS.

While it cannot be said that interest in the Boer war is dying out, at the same time it has occupied the center of the stage so long that the public, ever in search of variety, is becoming as tired of it as of the accounts of our operations in the Philippines. It has been aptly said that if a tragedy surrounded by as many ghastly details as attend the Boer wars, murders were committed every day, at the end of six months the news-reading public would not give even a second glance at the headlines of the story. So it is with the two wars in question. Nothing short of an unusually nerve battle could stir up the old-time interest in them again.

Yet, at the present time, the most important events in the whole South African campaign are being evolved. The ultimate object of the British maneuvers has been the capture of Pretoria for with the Boer capital in their hands and the executive officers of the Transvaal either prisoners or reduced to the extremity of becoming fugitives, the war will be at an end as far as battles are concerned, and any desultory fighting that may follow cannot, in view of the conditions prevailing there, be of long duration. The general advance commenced by Lord Roberts shows, too, that this culmination is not far away. The ravings of the jingo press that has been criticizing his apparent inaction have had no effect in hastening his arrangements—in fact, it is more than probable that he has not even heard of the censure—for his policy of campaign is now and always has been not to move until everything is absolutely ready. He has in consequence kept his army halted until the necessary horses and supplies reached his hands, and now that that result has been attained, there is nothing to stop his march to Pretoria save the opposition of the badly handicapped and overmatched Boer forces.

It can safely be said, therefore, that the end of the war is in sight, for with the Transvaal army reduced to about 30,000 men it will be impossible for it to cope with the 200,000 in Roberts' command. President Kruger, realizing that he is in extremis, has, in a despairing effort to secure mediation in his behalf, dispatched envoys to this country as the only place where sympathy for his cause is publicly expressed, but it can be considered certain before they arrive that their mission will be in vain. The Administration has already declared its intention of standing in the background unless requested to intervene by both contending parties, resolutions in the interests of the Transvaal are invariably defeated in Congress—in short, it is plain that the Boers will have to work out their own salvation without aid from us. Whatever the merits of the case may be, the days have passed away when knights errant went around the world championing the cause of Christendom, and Uncle Sam, like every other nation, is undoubtedly going to keep his finger out of a pie that does not belong to him.

STAMPING OUT FRAUDS.

It is a relief to hear that the Government has at last decided to take positive action that will lead to the suppression of the many frauds that are perpetrated by means of the mail service. Although there have long been on the Federal statute books, penal measures aimed at such practices, lax methods have prevailed in the enforcement thereof, owing doubtless to the difficulty of determining the dividing line between the good and the bad. It would not do for example to declare illicit all projects that rely upon support by mail subscriptions, for many worthy enterprises are maintained in that manner and to crush the innocent for the sake of reaching the guilty would be a hardship amounting to injustice.

Taking advantage of the latitude thus given, impostors have sprung up like weeds after a rain during the past few years. The extraordinary opportunities afforded by newspaper and magazine advertising have given wide fields for operation, the principal necessary stock in trade being a cleverly-worded ad, an office and a smooth letter writer in charge of the typewriting department. It has been easy for wolves to mask in sheep's clothing in this way, for by basing their appeals upon apparently legitimate lines it has been almost an impossibility to determine on reading their announcements whether or not they possessed actual merit. This is the sphere where the postal department, acting in conjunction with the Secret Service Bureau, now expects to find a fruitful field for labor. In every instance where it is learned that abnormally large deliveries of mail matter are made either to certain post-office boxes or to offices not listed as regular business concerns, a thorough investigation is to ensue and should it prove that the operators are fakes or frauds their business will be closed down and they will be proceeded against criminally.

The crusade is to be first prosecuted in a direction where it is certain a wedding is needed, to wit, among the magnetic and divine healers, the faith cures, the no-medicine humbugs and in fact all such devices that bear upon their face the imprint of the charlatan and the rogue. The descent upon "Divine Healer" Truth marked the striking of the first blow and it has been followed in rapid succession by the exposing of half a dozen other humbugs each of whom proves to have been fattening upon the public at the rate of thousands of dollars per month. The work is an estimable and much-needed one and it is to be hoped that it will be prosecuted until the country is thoroughly purged of such unscrupulous rascals and in so vigorous a manner as to deter others from adopting a like method of living by their wits.

The Boers have retreated to the banks of the Vet river. When Roberts catches up with them, though, they will have to move on a little farther and the cockney Tommy Atkins will have an opportunity to call out to them, "Come in out of the Vet."

The founder of Carson City says he is willing to wager $100,000 that Bryan will be elected. What a snuff for the bunko men to be able to get the name and address of as good a thing as he is.

The cables report that Mark Twain has raised a smile in London. Details are not given as to what he took, but it was doubtless straight goods.

Coffee interests are suffering as a result of the revolution in Colombia. The strained relations are therefore quite appropriate.

OPPORTUNITY OF THE ORTHODOX.

The Rev. Benjamin P. Mills occupied the pulpit in the First Unitarian Church yesterday morning. His subject was "The Opportunity of the Orthodox." Mr. Mills presented the various values of orthodoxy to be a "strengthening of the religious sentiment," "an increase of fellowship among people possessing the same belief," "an encouragement of a practice of virtue and promotion of education up to a certain point." He said: "Orthodoxy is a certain orthodoxy in every religion, even in that of Buddhism. Orthodoxy succeeds only up to a certain point. It has been the history of the world that which has killed it. It did but know it. The soil in which orthodoxy is sown is all right, but it needs air. It has founded institutions in that it has built better than it knew. The growth of liberal thought is due to the great universities of Germany, England and America.

The orthodox churches still have their opportunity. They must have dogmatic tests for membership; only of a certain kind. Since they know the standards have changed, they must get their creeds up to date, and do their share towards making our world a better one."

D. F. Verdenal, in his New York correspondence, has the following to say: "Miss Mary Crocker's fairy aunt, Mrs. Alexander, does not believe in long engagements, and she advanced consideration has fixed Thursday, June 7th, as the wedding day. There have been several changes in the speed matrimonial program since the day was first announced. It was then given out that the ceremony would take place at the Fifth-eighth street home of Mrs. Alexander in this city; then it was announced that the wedding would be held at Mrs. Alexander's Tuxedo Park cottage. It seems now officially settled that St. Mary's Church, at Tuxedo Park, will be the place of the ceremony. The event will be followed by a collation at Mrs. Alexander's home near by. The selection of maid of honor and bridesmaid was a vexed one. It is settled finally that the bridesmaids will be Miss Jennie Crocker, sister of the bride; Miss Susan M. Alexander, daughter of Mr. John J. McCook of this city; Miss Harriet Alexander, Miss Crocker's cousin; Miss Jean Reid, daughter of Mr. Whitcomb Reid; Miss Mary Scott and Miss Caroline Taylor, Miss Crocker's nieces; and Miss Genevieve Carolan of San Francisco. Miss Alexander will wear a gown of white, and the bridesmaid will wear a gown of pink. The invitations are limited, owing to the capacity of the church. One hundred guests will leave here at 11 o'clock to reach the church at 12:30. Mrs. Alexander and Miss Crocker will go to Tuxedo Park next week and remain there until the wedding day. Mrs. Alexander, robed in an attractive gown of gray, and Miss Crocker in pink, with an early straw hat, will arrive at the church at 11 o'clock. The bride will be escorted by Mr. John J. TRACK AND TRAIN

Improvements at the Yard—An Inspection Tour—Cleaning Pullmans.

The freight traffic of the Southern Pacific Company remains steady. At times there is a rush which keeps the yardmen working pretty busy. These heavy consignments are only forerunners of what may be expected in the future, as the season advances.

Preparations are now being made to be in readiness for the heavy traffic—when it comes. A large quantity of rolling stock is being manufactured in the East, and will soon be put into operation. Several of the new freight cars are being sent to the East. This will tend to relieve the scarcity of cars, which was felt so strongly last season.

YARD IMPROVEMENTS.

There have been several improvements made in the yards during the last year and more improvements are now in progress. Quite a number of new tracks have been laid in the freight yard, making more room for storage and switching purposes. There are now 10 tracks in the freight yard, and the yardmen are now in the habit of switching the freight cars in the new tracks. This will tend to relieve the scarcity of cars, which was felt so strongly last season.

RAILROAD EXCURSION.

The excursion of the Southern Pacific Company to the Santa Cruz mountains has been successful. The excursion was made on May 1st, and the train was composed of 10 passenger cars and 10 freight cars. The train was loaded with passengers and freight, and the excursion was a great success. The train was loaded with passengers and freight, and the excursion was a great success.

OPERATORS CHANGED.

A few changes were made last week among the freight operators. Joe Taylor was transferred to the freight yard, and the freight yard was transferred to the freight yard. The freight yard was transferred to the freight yard, and the freight yard was transferred to the freight yard.

FOR WELL PEOPLE.

An Easy Way to Keep Well.

It is easy to keep well if we could only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all-important thing is to keep the stomach right and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such papering simply makes a delicious appetite and a feeling that certain favorite articles of food must be avoided.

Professor Welch gives pretty good advice on this subject. He says: "I am 68 years old and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bran crackers or dieting of any sort, on the contrary, I always eat what my appetite craves, but for the past eight years I have made it a daily practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal, and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets."

My physician friend advised me to use them because, he said, they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only the natural digestive, peptones and diastase, and after using them a few weeks I never ceased to thank him for his advice.

"I honestly believe that the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing and preserves health to the well and strong."

Men and women past fifty years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well regulated household from Maine to California, and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favor. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full-sized packages at 50 cents, and for a week's stomach a 50-cent package will often do $50 worth of good.

CARPENTERS ARE WELL RECEIVED.

Contractors Agree to New Scale and all Is Harmony.

The past week has been an eventful one in labor circles, several movements of considerable importance having been made and successfully carried out.

The demand made by the carpenters for $10 a day has been received beyond the expectations of many of the union men, though it has caused much trouble and has not as yet become entirely effective.

The trouble which has so long existed between the carpenters and the plumbers' union has been satisfactorily adjusted, and all of Mr. Tuttle's men, fourteen in number, have joined the union. The carpenters' union, which has been one of the smaller unions in the past, has now received applications during the past week which will nearly double its membership. The union is now in a position to take care of its own affairs, and the carpenters are now in a position to take care of their own affairs.

LONGSHOREMEN.

The Longshoremen's Union will meet next Thursday evening in its hall on Broadway, between First and Second streets. The union is now in a position to take care of its own affairs, and the carpenters are now in a position to take care of their own affairs.

At the services of the First Christian Church yesterday, President Gibbs of the Official Board of the organization tendered his resignation, which read as follows:

"Dear Brethren: I hereby tender my resignation as one of the elders of the congregation, to take effect immediately. For fifteen long years I have tried to serve you faithfully. "WILLIAM T. GIBBS."

A gas stove meal

Take breakfast for instance—

First of all stay in bed 40 minutes longer—gas stoves are 40 minutes quicker—

Then get up, light the fire (just a match and a stepper you know), and back to dress—No danger—Never smokes, or sparks, or spreads, or goes out—

Then when you're dressed breakfast is ready—

Hot coffee, mush and hot cakes (a wonderful stove for hot cakes and toast)—No soot on the coals—No burnt mush, hot cakes browned to perfection, and toast to be remembered—

Gas stoves are money savers in all things but one—They make folks eat more because cooking is so much better.
